

the future university

... neoliberal times

What does the future of higher education look like in Australia under neoliberalism? What might this mean for society? Join us for a two-day conference in which we grapple with these questions led by keynotes from Prof Marie Brennan, Prof Lew Zipin and Dr Andrew Miller. Day 1 comprises selected presentations and 'hot house' discussions; Day 2 includes a collaborative writing workshop under the guidance of Marie and Lew. Both days are hosted at Flinders University, Bedford Park campus in the Education Building with support from the Flinders Educational Futures Research Institute (FEFRI) and the Flinders Branch of the National Tertiary Education Union (NTEU).
